

My Recovery Story – Jared Hamre

September 13th 2008 marked 3 years of recovery for me. This means I have not drank alcohol or used any other drugs. I am grateful for my recovery, and that does not mean life struggles have not come my way. Recovery has given me tools to cope with challenges.

For me, residential treatment, as in Phoenix House of Springfield started me on this life learning process. The staff and residents taught me that correct behaviors lead to a productive life. I learned that practicing positive behavior change has helped me become a good, dependable person.

I am still the same person that walked in those doors but I have changed how I act and how I perceive myself. When I was about 6 months into my recovery I decided to start giving back by speaking at my former high school. Helping others, owning my history, and sharing the value of my recovery has taken away the unnecessary shame to this disease

My drug (heroin and cocaine or anything) addiction would have ruined my life. Recovery- in a matter of 3 years has brought me positive friendships, a house, a dog, a loving girlfriend who is not ashamed of my past.... and is rather proud and interested in my recovery

I feel sad that too many of my friends have passed away from using drugs. I could be one of them. I feel grateful that I am alive and living in recovery. I do not take recovery for granted. Phoenix House gave me a positive foundation. Through MOAR, MA Organization for Addiction Recovery, I am learning how to use my voice to make sure that residential treatment like Phoenix House, can expand to help more people live in recovery. Learning how to make positive changes in recovery, has given me skills to be a voice to speak up for positive public policy changes. Voices like mine joined with others in recovery, families, and friends are making a positive difference. Join MOAR!
