

Massachusetts Organization for Addiction Recovery

MOAR

Resources for Recovery

A Mini Guide with MOAR to come!

Join the Voices for Recovery!

Our Mission

Our mission is to organize recovering individuals, families, and friends into a collective voice to educate the public about the value of recovery from alcohol and other addictions.

Our Vision

MOAR envisions a society where addiction is treated as a significant public health issue and recovery is recognized as valuable to all our communities.

Message

MOAR welcomes you and encourages all to speak up for recovery, while at the same time acknowledging that there may be risks, which need to be reviewed. Certain forums may include the public and the press.

While this may be exciting to some people, it may pose a risk for others.

MOAR encourages you to make the choice most helpful to you.

Diversity, Equity & Inclusion Statement

MOAR is a voice for all people seeking the benefits of recovery. We are committed to doing the work necessary to address the struggles and inequities diverse groups of people face while seeking recovery services.

Systemic racism, discrimination, prejudice, and bias have been deeply ingrained in the history of the American health care system. MOAR is committed to creating a collective voice for those seeking recovery, one that includes people who have been historically underserved, marginalized, and oppressed.

A Commitment to Help End Racism

MOAR continues to speak out about the brutal killings of George Floyd, Manuel Ellis, and the many other victims of racial violence. We share the anger related to these tragedies. We join the calls for justice and the elimination of racism, violence, and social inequity.

The murder of George Floyd underscored the persistence of structural racism and brutal violence against Black and Brown people in this country. We learned of another Black man who died while pleading, "I can't breathe." It was Manuel Ellis, a 33-year-old man in recovery from substance addiction, who died of oxygen deprivation caused by a cruel restraint method used by law enforcement.

MOAR understands that the killing of unarmed Black people has to do with the ways that racism is embedded in the structure of U.S. society. And we stand in agreement with the American Medical Association, the American College of Physicians, and the American Academy of Pediatrics: Racism is a Public Health Issue.

In our work at MOAR, we wholeheartedly believe that recovery is for everyone. Our mission is to organize recovering individuals, families, and friends into a collective voice to educate the public about the value of recovery from alcohol and other addictions. We want to help eliminate disparities related to substance addiction, health care and the justice involved.

We support protesters in their calls for justice. Enough is enough. Racism in all forms must stop. This requires systemic changes not only to policing, but all aspects of our society. As an organization, MOAR is dedicated to the respective role we play in addressing these issues. As we call for system changes to do better, we know that we, as an organization, must do better.

MOAR recognized that, as an organization, we needed to improve how we address systemic racism and the health disparities that manifest for Black and Brown people with substance addiction. In early 2020, we brought in an innovative team of experienced diversity consultants to engage us in a thorough organizational assessment. We reviewed and continue to review our internal and external practices to make the fundamental changes necessary to be a truly inclusive organization. Seeking out injustices is everyone's responsibility.

MOAR is committed to working alongside and listening to the voices of all communities. It will continue to take concrete measures to eliminate racial disparities regarding access to recovery services. Let us all strive for racial equity.

It has been several years since we put our commitment into print. Since then, we have formed two committees and created a new position.

- Our Language and Curriculum Committee provided a strategy for updating our resources to reflect our commitment to equity, inclusion, and diversity. We will be editing our educational materials to include the voices and direction from communities of color and other underrepresented communities.
- The Allyship & Partnership Committee is leveraging our networks of allies and partnerships, as well as resources, to create and sustain an environment that is equitable, inclusive, and diverse for all.
- Our Diversity Chair is helping MOAR organize and stay focused on truly reflecting equity, inclusion, and diversity. MOAR is moving forward with strategic support and action.

A Collective Voice for Addiction Recovery

Thank you to the MOAR members, individuals, families, and friends who have helped guide the update of our renowned resource guide! We are excited to share the “MOAR Mini-Guide with MOAR to Come,” which includes valuable information on prevention, treatment, and recovery resources. The following pages serve as a “how-to” guide to support individuals and families seeking help in the recovery process.

Your input is crucial to ensure that the guide remains comprehensive and beneficial to all, so please continue to share any suggestions for additions. Through MOAR’s recovery meetings, trainings, and public events, we provide opportunities for individuals with lived experience to learn how to share their stories. This “Mini-Guide” is just one example of how we assist individuals in navigating the complex continuum of care, while reinforcing the message that recovery is possible. Everyone who continues to struggle deserves compassion and support.

During COVID-19, we maintained virtual connections regionally and statewide, demonstrating that the recovery community, including families, is “visible, vocal, and valuable,” and we will be victorious. Some of our activities are now being held in a hybrid format. To stay informed about upcoming events, please visit our website at www.moar-recovery.org and follow us on Facebook (@MOARRecovery).

Our members are the driving force behind everything we do, and we are deeply grateful to our funders—especially the Bureau of Substance Addiction Services (BSAS), Massachusetts Department of Public Health, Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts, the RIZE Foundation, and the Greater Boston Council on Alcoholism—for their generous support. We also want to thank Bay State Community Services for hosting our program. Finally, thank you to all our members. Your support makes MOAR’s work possible, and we are tremendously grateful.

Continuum of Care Services

Detox/ATS/WMS

Acute Treatment Services (ATS) are now called 24-Hour Diversionary Withdrawal Management Services (WMS). This means 24-hour SUD treatment services are provided in freestanding or hospital-based settings with 24-hour, seven-day per week nursing and medical supervision that include withdrawal symptom management as part of medically supervised withdrawal and/or induction onto maintenance treatment. The expectation of all services as well as of this setting is the provision of patient care to plan for discharge and continuity of services, including direct referrals.

Transitional Support Services (TSS)

Transitional Support Services (TSS) are short-term residential programs for individuals who need further stabilization after detoxification. Admission is limited to patients without housing and those discharged from WMS. The average length of stay is 14 to 21 days. TSS programs provide 24-hour, structured, and supportive residential housing, and services. Case management and psychoeducation are available to assist patients in implementing an Individual Service Plan. Case managers provide interagency collaboration and linkages to next step programs and assist in obtaining the credentials necessary to apply for social service benefits, such as a copy of a birth certificate, identification, and more.

Recovery Homes

Recovery Homes provide an alcohol and drug free environment for individuals recovering from addiction. These programs emphasize recovery and treatment within a structured, therapeutic setting. Residents are encouraged to integrate into the community and to access resources from multiple pathways and employment support. Social Model programs emphasize a sober living environment, peer counseling and case management. The goal of these programs is to help residents provide each other with a culture of recovery, support, sharing and positive role modeling.

Therapeutic Communities

Therapeutic Communities provide an environment that emphasizes residential treatment and recovery within the parameters of the program structure. The residents take an active role in this mode of treatment, helping them to take responsibility and become positive role models.

Peer Recovery Support Centers

The Massachusetts Peer Recovery Support Centers (PRSC) are free, accessible, peer-led spaces that provide individuals in recovery from SUD, as well as families and loved ones affected by addiction, the opportunity to both offer and receive support in their community. The PRSCs are warm, welcoming spaces grounded in the values of recovery and reflective of multiple pathways.

Regional Learning Communities

DMH has funded Recovery Learning Communities in all 6 DMH service areas. Regionally located, these peer-operated “hubs” coordinate peer-run peer support, education, advocacy, and other regional peer-run activities. By supporting and strengthening a regional peer-run network, DMH aims to promote a system that is increasingly consumer driven, where peers are more fully integrated into their community.

Support After a Death by Overdose

www.sadod.org

SADOD provides resources, information, and assistance to people throughout Massachusetts who have been affected by the death of someone they care about from a substance-use-related cause. Our focus is on increasing the capacity and effectiveness of peer grief support for bereaved people, frontline care providers, and people in recovery or struggling with drug use. We hope you find useful tools here that meet your needs, and we welcome your feedback about how this website can be improved.

The Sun Will Rise Foundation

www.thesunwillrise.org

The primary focus of The Sun Will Rise Foundation is to provide free peer grief support for those who have experienced the devastating death of someone they care about due to substance use (drug/alcohol) or overdose.

Team Sharing Inc.

<https://teamsharinginc.org/>

Team Sharing Inc. is an organization of parents who have lost a child to substance use disorder (SUD). Through social networking, community activism, grief services and advocacy, Team Sharing Inc. provides support and friendship to grieving families while working to raise awareness of SUD and its impact on our communities.

Youth Prevention Initiatives

The third Massachusetts Collaborative for Action, Leadership, and Learning (MassCALL3) award replaces DPH's previously funded Substance Misuse Prevention Grant Programs. Currently, 31 grants have been distributed. MassCALL3 is overseen by The Massachusetts Department of Public Health, Bureau of Substance Addiction Services.

Get Help

Do you or a loved one struggle with problematic gambling?
Helpline Specialists are available 24/7
Call 1- 800-426-1234

Are you wondering if you should attend a support meeting for what might be a problem with gambling?

Find a meeting near you. There is NO COST to participate or attend a meeting. You do not have to call ahead to attend and are welcome at any time.

Gamblers Anonymous (GA) and Bettors Anonymous (BA) are self-help meetings based on the same 12-step concept as Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) and Narcotics Anonymous (NA). Gamblers Anonymous also offers a weekly phone meeting for those who are unable to attend or prefer not to meet in person. The phone meeting is held every Wednesday night from 9:00 PM – 10:30 PM EST, just call 712-770-4160 and use access code 611704# to access the meeting.

Smart Recovery offers face-to-face meetings, online meetings, and online self-help chat.

Gam-Anon is a support group specifically for families and loved ones of people experiencing problems with gambling.

In The Rooms is the world's largest online social network for the global recovery community. It's for people already in recovery, those seeking immediate help from any addiction, and for the families, friends, and allies of those people.

GamTalk is a supportive community helping people with gambling issues share their experience and ideas. Joining is free, completely anonymous and lets you take part in community discussions, scheduled chat sessions and more.

Youth, Transition Age Youth, and Young Adult Services

These services promote wellbeing by building on strengths and preventing and treating substance use disorders, HIV infection, and other risk-taking behaviors.

Services target individuals ages 12 to 25 who are at increased risk for alcohol and/or other drug-related use.

Some services may be provided in schools, courts, community agencies, and housing projects and/or on the street. These services may offer education/skill building, alternatives to substance use, youth development, problem identification, and referrals. Service types include outpatient counseling, residential- and justice-involved collaboratives.

If you perceive symptoms of what could be an alcohol or drug use problem with a young person

Call the Massachusetts Substance Use Helpline

1-800-327-5050

The Massachusetts Helpline will work with families and other key stakeholders to devise the most appropriate course of action for adolescents and young adults ages 12-25 in need of treatment for their use of substances.

Options include:

- Placement in a stabilization program
- Placement directly at residential programs without a prior stay at stabilization level of care
- Referrals to statewide outpatient, community-based Adolescent Community Reinforcement Approach (A-CRA) services

Outpatient Counseling For Youth (Ages 12-24)

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health, Bureau of Substance Addiction Services supports and licenses outpatient providers to offer individual, group, and family therapy for alcohol, marijuana, and other drugs. Some outpatient providers have specialized training and certification in offering substance use and behavioral treatment for youth and young adults, such as the Adolescent Community Reinforcement Approach (A-CRA). A-CRA is a behavioral intervention for youth and young adults ages 12-24 that seeks to increase the family, social, and educational/vocational reinforcers of an adolescent/young adult to support recovery from substance misuse and dependence. There are A-CRA sites across the Commonwealth.

Helping Children Affected by Another Person's Substance Use / COASA

Children of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (COASA) supports children of alcoholism and substance use disorder by serving as an advocate for them in community forums and by developing appropriate supportive educational groups for children of alcoholics and other substance abusers in Boston. COASA facilitates school and community-based prevention/intervention services, adapting them for the needs of the children we serve.

The program provides children with a framework for understanding what they are experiencing and teaches them to break the “don’t talk, don’t trust, don’t feel” rules they live within at home. The children learn about the “7 C’s” (They didn’t CAUSE it, can’t CURE it, can’t CONTROL it, can take CARE of themselves, can COMMUNICATE their feelings, can make healthy CHOICES, and can CELEBRATE being themselves). The purpose of the program is to provide ongoing validation, support in developing positive social skills and improvement of individual self-esteem. COASA works within the Boston neighborhoods with the drug coalitions now in place and with the Massachusetts Organization for Addiction Recovery. The program offers resources to children, whether the parents are in treatment or not.

Stages Parents Go Through

By Diane Kurtz and Tanyss Martula
Parents Support Group of Western Massachusetts

1. Search for the reason for the changes in our child.
2. Question possibility of substance use disorder.
3. Question child: accept their answer that they are not using.
4. Our own denial of any substance misuse.
5. Frustration
6. Reality that substance misuse is the problem.
7. Fear to search for the reasons why this happened.
8. Guilt for not realizing earlier.
9. Feeling like a failure as a parent.
10. Shame of our family situation with outsiders.
11. Grief for the loss of the dreams we had for our child.
12. Acceptance of substance use as reasons for changes.
13. Action finds a way to cope.
14. Learn how to let go to save our own sanity. Learn some skills to let them feel their own consequences because of their own choices and realize it is not our responsibility to always find their answers.
15. Learn to distinguish the difference between the behavior of the child with the disease and the child himself.
16. Be aware we do not have to accept unacceptable behavior.
17. Understand that our children will take their own action. (We can provide some information and guidelines, stick to them, and then let our children make their own choice on which avenue to take.) It may be that the course taken would not be of our choosing but necessary to allow them to see where this road leads them.

Above All We Must Learn How to Take Care of Ourselves and Make A Life for Ourselves Regardless of The Pain We Feel Our Children Are In. Pain Is Growth... In Our Growing Up Process, We've All Experienced It One Time or Another and Learned from It.

The Following Text Is Based on the Facilitator's Family Personal Experiences

Search

We tried to search for a reason that would explain our child's behavior. In the beginning we thought this was just normal adolescent behavior. Is he unhappy? Does he have enough friends? Is school going well? Are the teachers treating him as unfairly as he says they are?

A lot of children skip a class or a school day, or marks fall as school becomes harder. A lot of children isolate and do not want to be involved in family functions, or they become secretive.

But there were the times that our child would call at a late hour and ask to sleep at a friend's. This was a clue. Most children would ask in advance to sleep out. If refused permission to do so, they would accept a "no" for an answer. Our child never accepted that answer. After a while, if permission wasn't granted, he would just start swearing, hang up and not return home until late the next day. All the above was a direct result of our child's drug and alcohol use.

Question

We had a lot of questions: Was this normal adolescent behavior? Was this how other children acted or was this different? Could this be a psychological problem? Could medication help?

We were totally confused. We went to the pediatrician for help, and he felt that what we were experiencing was normal adolescent behavior, but my gut kept telling me to look further. Finally, the possibility of drugs came into play, and it scared us to death, but we had to really look at this. After all what did we know about substance abuse? Time to find out as much as we could. After all, this was our son's life we were talking about. If it is substance abuse, now what?

Asked the question

We asked our son if he was using any substances. Oh good – he said no! He could not believe we would even ask such a question. He said we had told him how dangerous this was, and he was listening. We are so thankful that the answer was no. What had we been thinking?

Denial

Because of the answers we received, we did not want to believe it was substance abuse. We thought he was perhaps just having a hard time coping with being a teenager. This kind of attitude kept us in the dark for longer and allowed our son to become sicker and sicker. He was good at making sure we stayed in denial as long as possible. After all, if we caught on, his life would change... and so would ours.

Frustration

We continued to battle with ourselves about what was really going on. It became one of the most frustrating times in our marriage. When my husband was ready to look at things for what they really were, I was not. If I was seeing things clearly, he was not. We played this seesaw game for a while. It was one of the hardest times for the two of us.

Reality

It became clear that substance abuse was what had changed our son. We could see visible changes: in friends, clothing, eating habits, sleeping habits, secrecy. Our child had become someone else. We started finding what appeared to be cigarette particles in his clothing pockets and papers to roll cigarettes. He could not or would not hide these things anymore.

Fear

We're so scared. What are we to do? What if our son won't accept help? Where do we go for help? What if he dies? We've got to do something – but what?

Search for a reason

Maybe we were bad parents? Maybe we did not love our son enough? Maybe we made him feel bad and that was why? All these questions and we had no answers. We were good parents; we did love him enough. We never gave him a reason to do drugs to cope with life.

As it turned out we learned that this is a disease and that our son did not choose to have it but did. We, as his parents, did not bring this on. There basically was no other reason our son had a disease called addiction.

Guilt

We feel so guilty that we did not see earlier this for what it was. We should have been able to tell. Could he have gotten sicker because of us and our not dealing with this? We feel so bad. No matter how bad you feel, no amount of guilt is going to change what has happened. Parents love their children. Some children make bad choices; sometimes even when they have been instructed otherwise. We did not put the first substance in our son's body, he did. We should not feel guilty for where we are now.

Feelings

One of the strongest feelings we had to cope with was the belief that we had failed as parents. We started looking at ourselves in comparison to others. What we needed to understand was that other people whose children did not suffer from the disease of addiction were not experiencing what we were. We weren't failures, we were just uneducated in this area of life.

Feeling like failures just prolonged our ability to do something. What we needed to do was learn as much as possible about this disease so we could do something.

Shame

Shame was one of the things that kept us from talking about what was going on in our home. We found ourselves acting as if everything was okay. It was a big burden to continue to try and hide what the disease of addiction had done to our marriage and our family.

It wasn't until our shame became overwhelming that we finally talked to someone about what was really going on. Then, we were able to find help. We finally got the courage to go to group therapy, family counseling and take back control of our home.

Grief

We finally came to an understanding that we were grieving for what could have been. We could see that our child was not going to walk the same road as other children. As it was, he never went to a prom, never graduated from high school, or went to college the way our friends' children did. We needed to allow ourselves to grieve then let go of our expectation of what we thought would happen normally.

Acceptance

As difficult as it was to accept that substance abuse was the problem, we had no choice but to do so. Acceptance was required for us to take the next steps. Acceptance also helped us to stop searching for a reasonable explanation for the behavior change. Now we understood.

Action

Now that we understood what was happening with our child, we needed to find a way to cope. We looked for support systems that could help us change our outlook and actions concerning our son.

Learn

We learned, with the help of a self-help group, how to let our son feel the consequences of his choices. This is one of the hardest steps to take. As parents, we were used to stepping in and protecting, that we found it against our natural parenting skills to let our child suffer the outcome. We finally recognized that this was the only way for our child to change his behavior.

Learn to Distinguish the Difference

We had to learn to distinguish the difference between the son we raised and the person with the addiction. We needed to allow ourselves to still love our son but not accept the person he became when using. The person we raised was still underneath all the behaviors the disease created.

Aware

We needed to have an awareness that would help us to not accept unacceptable behavior. Accepting unacceptable behavior had allowed our child to think we did not need respect and accountability.

Understanding

Ultimately, it was necessary for us to understand that the choices our child might make will not always be what we want. The choices can become a learning experience in the recovery process. When we interrupt the choices, we take away the opportunity from our child to learn valuable lessons.

SAMHSA's Working Definition of Recovery for Addiction and Mental Health

The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services (SAMHSA) recognizes there are many different pathways to recovery and each individual determines his or her own way. SAMHSA engaged in a dialogue with consumers, persons in recovery, family members, advocates, policymakers, administrators, providers, and others to develop the following definition and guiding principles for recovery. The urgency of health reform compels SAMHSA to define recovery and to promote the availability, quality, and financing of vital services and supports that facilitate recovery for individuals. In addition, the integration mandate in Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act and the Supreme Court's decision in Olmstead v. L.C., 527 U.S. 581 (1999) provide legal requirements that are consistent with SAMHSA's mission to promote a high-quality and satisfying life in the community for all Americans.

Recovery from Mental Disorders and Substance Use Disorders: A process of change through which individuals improve their health and wellness, live a self-directed life, and strive to reach their full potential.

Through the Recovery Support Strategic Initiative, SAMHSA has delineated four major dimensions that support a life in recovery:

Health: Overcoming or managing one's disease(s) as well as living in a physically and emotionally healthy way

Home: A stable and safe place to live

Purpose: Meaningful daily activities, such as a job, school, volunteerism, family caretaking, or creative endeavors, and the independence, income, and resources to participate in society

Community: Relationships and social networks that provide support, friendship, love, and hope.

Guiding Principles of Recovery

Recovery emerges from hope: The belief that recovery is real provides the essential and motivating message of a better future – that people can and do overcome the internal and external challenges, barriers, and obstacles that confront them. Hope is internalized and can be fostered by peers, families, providers, allies, and others. Hope is the catalyst of the recovery process.

Recovery is person-driven: Self-determination and self-direction are the foundations for recovery as individuals define their own life goals and design their unique path(s) towards those goals. Individuals optimize their autonomy and independence to the greatest extent possible by leading, controlling, and exercising choice over the services and supports that assist their recovery and resilience. In so doing, they are empowered and provided the resources to make informed decisions, initiate recovery, build on their strengths, and gain or regain control over their lives.

Recovery occurs via many pathways: Individuals are unique with distinct needs, strengths, preferences, goals, culture, and backgrounds including trauma experiences that affect and determine their pathway(s) to recovery.

Recovery is built on the multiple capacities, strengths, talents, coping abilities, resources, and inherent value of each individual. Recovery pathways are highly personalized. They may include professional clinical treatment; use of medications; support from families and in schools; faith-based approaches; peer support; and other approaches.

Recovery is non-linear, characterized by continual growth and improved functioning that may involve setbacks. Because setbacks are a natural, though not inevitable, part of the recovery process, it is essential to foster resilience for all individuals and families. Abstinence is the safest approach for those with substance use disorders. Use of tobacco and non-prescribed or illicit drugs is not safe for anyone. In some cases, recovery pathways can be enabled by creating a supportive environment. This is especially true for children, who may not have the legal or developmental capacity to set their own course.

Recovery is holistic: Recovery encompasses an individual’s whole life, including mind, body, spirit, and community. This includes self-care practices, family, housing, employment, education, clinical treatment for mental disorders and substance use disorders, services and supports, primary healthcare, dental care, complementary and alternative services, faith, spirituality, creativity, social networks, transportation, and community participation. The array of services and supports available should be integrated and coordinated.

Recovery is supported by peers and allies: Mutual support and mutual aid groups, including the sharing of experiential knowledge and skills, as well as social learning, play an invaluable role in recovery. Peers encourage and engage other peers and provide each other with a vital sense of belonging, supportive relationships, valued roles, and community. Through helping others and giving back to the community, one helps oneself. Peer-operated support and services provide important resources to assist people along their journeys of recovery and wellness.

Professionals can also play an important role in the recovery process by providing clinical treatment and other services that support individuals in their chosen recovery paths. While peers and allies play an important role for many in recovery, their role for children and youth may be slightly different. Peer supports for families are very important for children with behavioral health.

Recovery is supported through relationship and social networks: An important factor in the recovery process is the presence and involvement of people who believe in the person’s ability to recover; who offer hope, support, and encouragement; and who also suggest strategies and resources for change. Family members, peers, providers, faith groups, community members, and other allies form vital support networks.

Through these relationships, people leave unhealthy and/or unfulfilling life roles behind and engage in new roles (e.g., partner, caregiver, friend, student, employee) that lead to a greater sense of belonging, personhood, empowerment, autonomy, social inclusion, and community participation.

Recovery is culturally based and influenced: Culture and cultural background in all its diverse representations including values, traditions, and beliefs are keys in determining a person’s journey and unique pathway to recovery. Services should be culturally grounded, attuned, sensitive, congruent, and competent, as well as personalized to meet each individual’s unique needs.

Recovery is supported by addressing trauma: The experience of trauma (such as physical or sexual abuse, domestic violence, war, disaster, and others) is often a precursor to or associated with alcohol and drug use, mental health problems, and related issues. Services and supports should be trauma- informed to foster safety (physical and emotional) and trust, as well as promote choice, empowerment, and collaboration.

Recovery involves individual, family, and community strengths and responsibility: Individuals, families, and communities have strengths and resources that serve as a foundation for recovery. In addition, individuals have a personal responsibility for their own self-care and journeys of recovery. Individuals should be supported in speaking for themselves. Families and significant others have responsibilities to support their loved ones, especially for children and youth in recovery. Communities have responsibilities to provide opportunities and resources to address discrimination and to foster social inclusion and recovery. Individuals in recovery also have a social responsibility and should have the ability to join with peers to speak collectively about their strengths, needs, wants, desires, and aspirations.

Recovery is based on respect: Community, systems, and societal acceptance and appreciation for people affected by mental health and substance use problems – including protecting their rights and eliminating discrimination – are crucial in achieving recovery. There is a need to acknowledge that taking steps towards recovery may require great courage. Self-acceptance, developing a positive and meaningful sense of identity, and regaining belief in oneself are particularly important.

SAMHSA has developed this working definition of recovery to help policymakers, providers, funders, peers/consumers, and others design, measure, and reimburse for integrated and holistic services to more effectively meet the individualized needs of those served.

Faces & Voices of Recovery is dedicated to organizing and mobilizing the over 23 million Americans in recovery from addiction to alcohol and other drugs, our families, friends and allies into recovery community organizations and networks, to promote the right and resources to recover through advocacy, education and demonstrating the power and proof of long-term recovery.

What They Do:

- Mobilize and organize to raise the profile of the organized recovery community and help more people find recovery by demonstrating that over 23 million Americans from all walks of life have found recovery and promote widespread understanding that long-term recovery is a reality and a process that takes time and support.
- Build the capacity of recovery community organizations to thrive and participate in local, state, and national policy arenas, deliver peer recovery support services; and mobilize the local recovery community.
- Address public policy to reduce the discrimination that keeps people from seeking recovery or moving on to better lives once they achieve it and support recovery-oriented policies and programs.

Massachusetts Access to Recovery (ATR)

Massachusetts Access to Recovery (ATR) is a 6-month program designed for individuals who have a substance use disorder (SUD), and who are seeking support with their recovery. ATR enables participants to create a recovery plan unique to their own needs and choose from a wide range of recovery support services. Both professionals and peers provide services through a variety of community organizations. It is funded by MA DPH/BSAS and federal grants.

ATR is not a self-referral program. If you're not already connected to a treatment and recovery community provider who can make a referral, you can use the MA Substance Use Helpline (1-800-327-5050) to find a provider in your local community.

If you need help and are not yet connected to recovery supports, please contact the MA Substance Use Helpline toll free (1-800-327-5050) to get connected to a treatment or recovery service provider in your area.

Eligibility Criteria

Participants must meet all criteria listed below to be enrolled in the Access to Recovery Program.

- Participant must have a history of drug and/or alcohol abuse and be motivated to work on recovery
- Participant must be in the early stages of recovery (two years or less)
- Participant must be connected with a provider in the recovery community (only authorized referral portals can make referrals.)
- Participant must be 18 years or older. Participant must reside in Boston, Springfield/Holyoke, Worcester, or New Bedford, and plan to be there for at least six months. In addition, participant must meet one of the following criteria:
 - Been incarcerated in Massachusetts within the last two years, OR
 - Be involved with a recovery (formerly drug) court in Massachusetts, OR
 - Served in the U.S. military, OR
 - Be a pregnant, postpartum or parenting woman with children under 18 living in the home

How is ATR Different?

ATR gives you choices about the best way to get the support and services you need and want. You can choose services, activities and people that can best help you. ATR can help you meet with many types of community and faith-based recovery support services. ATR offers many recovery support services. These services may include:

ID Cards	Help with Employment	Bill Paying
Child Care	Recovery Coaching	Copays
Basic Needs Fund	Transportation	Housing

How Does ATR Work?

1. You will meet with an ATR Coordinator who will review a recovery plan with you. A recovery plan is a road map that will list your goals and what services you want.
2. You will choose where to get the services you want.

How Do I Apply For MassHealth?

To find out if you qualify for MassHealth, you should fill out the application linked below that matches your age group.

For individuals under age 65:

- Apply: <https://bit.ly/3y5N1kH>
- Renew: <https://bit.ly/3y1y576>

For individuals ages 65 and over/or in need of long-term care:

- Apply: <https://www.mass.gov/how-to/apply-for-masshealth-coverage-for-seniors-and-people-of-any-age-who-need-long-term-care-services>
- Renew: <https://www.mass.gov/how-to/renew-your-masshealth-coverage>

Enroll

Once you complete an application and are approved as a MassHealth member, the next step will depend on your age and the type of MassHealth plan you have.

If you are under 65, MassHealth is your primary coverage (you do not have another type of health insurance), and you are in MassHealth Standard, CommonHealth, CarePlus, or Family Assistance, you will need to select the insurance plan in which you would like to enroll. On the MassHealth website, you can compare plans and enroll in the one that best matches your needs. If you do not select your own plan, MassHealth will choose one for you. However, you know your health needs best, so it is better if you choose! If you have questions or need help choosing a plan, you can call the MassHealth Customer Service Center at 1-800-841-2900.

If you are an adult with a disability between the ages of 21 and 64 and have both Medicare and MassHealth Standard or MassHealth CommonHealth, you may be eligible for One Care. One Care is a way to get your MassHealth and Medicare benefits together and offers services that you cannot get when your MassHealth and Medicare benefits are separate. With One Care, you have one plan, one card, and one person to coordinate your care. Once you have both Medicare Part A and B and are a MassHealth member, you can enroll in One Care.

If you are an older adult, you may be eligible for Senior Care Options (SCO) and Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly (PACE).

Senior Care Options (SCO) is a comprehensive health plan that offers coordinated health care services and social support services. Enrollment is open to MassHealth Standard members who are 65 or older and meet specific eligibility requirements. To enroll in SCO, you must select a Senior Care Organization for your health plan.

The Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly (PACE) is administered by MassHealth and Medicare to provide a wide range of medical, social, recreational, and wellness services. The goal of PACE is to allow participants to live safely in their homes instead of in nursing homes. To enroll in PACE, you must contact the PACE organization that serves the area where you live.

Accessing Behavioral Health Care

Once you are MassHealth member and have selected your plan, you will be able to use your plan to access behavioral health services.

If you are a member under age 65 with MassHealth as your primary coverage, behavioral health services are provided by the Massachusetts Behavioral Health Partnership (MBHP). You can find a behavioral health provider through MBHP Behavioral Health Provider locator.

If you are a member enrolled in an MCO or Accountable Care Partnership Plan, the behavioral health care providers you have access to will depend on your plan. It is best to contact your plan directly for information on which behavioral health providers participate in your network. You can visit the MassHealth website and enter your zip code to find contact information of the health plans near you.

If you are a member enrolled in One Care or Senior Care Options (SCO), the behavioral health care provider network you have access to will depend on the plan you have selected. It is best to contact your plan directly for information on which behavioral health providers participate in your network.

If you are a member enrolled in Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly (PACE), you can be connected to behavioral health care through your PACE organization.

Massachusetts Health Connector

The Health Connector offers health and dental coverage from the state’s leading insurers and provides tools for Massachusetts residents to determine which plans and cost savings you and your family may be eligible for.

Applications for health insurance through the Health Connector are open during a specific period during the year called the “open enrollment period.” Open enrollment is the time of year where people can buy a new insurance plan or change their current plan through the Health Connector or directly through their insurance carrier.

However, you can apply for coverage at any time of the year if:

- You qualify for MassHealth.
- You now qualify for a Connector Care plan through the Health Connector after not having qualified in the past.
- You are applying for dental coverage.
- You are a member of a federally recognized tribe or Alaska Native shareholder.
- You have a waiver from the Office of Patient Protection.

If you have a qualifying life event—such as a change in your household size (like getting married, divorced, or having a child) or a change in income—you may meet the criteria for a Special Enrollment Period (SEP). A Special Enrollment Period is a time outside of the open enrollment period where you and your family have a right to sign up for health coverage through the Health Connector.

Please visit the Special Enrollment Period page for more information about qualifying life events.

To apply or learn more about your options, visit the Getting Started Guide or contact the Massachusetts Health Connector for assistance. You can also contact Enrollment Assisters for free support in understanding the coverage options available to you. Assistants are trained and certified to help you from application through enrollment into new health insurance plans.

Medicare

Medicare is the federal health insurance program for people who are 65 or older. Certain people younger than age 65 can qualify for Medicare too, including those with disabilities and those who have End-Stage Renal Disease.

The different parts of Medicare help cover specific services.

- Medicare Part A (Hospital Insurance) covers inpatient hospital stays, care in a skilled nursing facility, nursing home care, hospice care, and some home health care. Most people do not pay a monthly fee (referred to as a monthly premium) for Part A if they or their spouse paid Medicare taxes for a certain amount of time while working.
- Medicare Part B (Medical Insurance) covers certain doctors' services, outpatient care, medical supplies, and preventive services. Everyone pays a monthly premium for Part B which is based on income level.
- Medicare Part D (Rx drug coverage) helps cover the cost of prescription drugs (including many recommended shots or vaccines). Medicare drug coverage is optional, and you must join an approved plan to receive it. Each plan can vary in cost and specific drugs covered. Please visit the Medicare website for more information on getting Medicare prescription drug coverage.

Original Medicare includes Part A (hospital insurance) and Part B (Medical Insurance). You can join a separate Medicare drug plan (Part D) if you need drug coverage. With Original Medicare, you can use any doctor or hospital that takes Medicare, anywhere in the U.S.

Medicare Advantage (also known as Part C) is an alternative to Original Medicare that includes Part A, Part B, and usually Part D (Rx drug coverage). Most plans also offer extra benefits that Original Medicare does not cover. These plans may have lower out-of-pocket costs than Original Medicare. In many cases, you will need to use providers who are in your plan's network and service area for the lowest costs.

Applying and Enrolling

The process for getting started with Medicare depends on your unique situation, so the best first step is to visit the Medicare website to learn about your options. If you would prefer to speak with someone to help you navigate the process, you can schedule a free appointment with a health insurance counselor through the SHINE Program.

Private Insurance Carriers

Find out more about your options for insurance coverage in Massachusetts. Most people who have health insurance in Massachusetts sign up for coverage through their employer. If you do not have access to health insurance coverage through an employer, you may be eligible for publicly funded insurance plans, like MassHealth or Medicare.

Individual Coverage

One way to get individual coverage is to buy a health plan directly from an insurance company. You can call a health insurance company directly to enroll in a plan designed for individuals, families, or small groups. Many self-employed residents obtain health coverage this way. You can find a list of the companies that offer these plans at the Division of Insurance website. You can also purchase insurance through the Massachusetts Health Connector.

Accessing Mental Health and Substance Use Services

To better understand the mental health and substance use benefits covered by your health plan, it is best to visit your health insurance carrier's website or contact the customer service number on your health insurance card. William James INTERFACE has a guide for families and individuals seeking mental health services that can help you understand various aspects of mental health insurance coverage and offers ideas about how to get started, questions to ask an insurance company, and a glossary of insurance terms.

Accessing SUD Services for Children and Adolescents

If you are unsure if your insurance plan covers the behavioral health services your child needs, the experts at the Autism Insurance Resource Center (AIRC) can help (even if your child does not have autism). Many Massachusetts private health insurance plans now cover certain behavioral health services for children and adolescents. This includes services such as intensive care coordination and in-home therapy. Knowledgeable experts at the AIRC can answer questions about insurance coverage, advise on how to access treatment, etc. Call 774- 455-4056 or visit AIRC’s website for free assistance.

What is Parity?

Parity is equality. The Federal and Massachusetts Mental Health and Addiction Parity Laws make it illegal for health plans to discriminate against persons with addiction and/or mental illnesses. Health plans should be providing the same level of services for addiction and mental illness as done for other “physical” illnesses like heart disease, diabetes, or arthritis.

How Does Parity Help?

Research shows addiction and many mental health disorders are diseases of the brain. Parity laws require insurance companies and health plans to recognize these health issues as biologically based, “physical” illnesses and to pay equally for diagnosis and treatment. Your health plan may be required to pay for the following services to treat addiction if they pay for similar services treating other health conditions.

Acute treatment	Clinically managed detox services
Partial hospitalization	Intensive outpatient programs
Day treatment	Crisis stabilization
In-home therapy	Rehabilitations

Health plans cannot have treatment limits for addiction and mental health disorders that are different than those for other health issues. Any limits on how often you can seek care, number of visits, or days of coverage must be the same as those for medical or surgical benefits.

Health plans are not to require higher or additional deductibles, higher copayments, coinsurance or higher out-of-pocket expenses for addiction and mental health treatment than what they charge for other medical conditions.

How Do I Ensure My Rights Are Met?

- Parity requires health plans to provide consumers with the reason for why you were denied coverage of services.
- Parity requires health plans to provide the criteria they used to decide if the treatment is medically necessary (for services like detox support) or to decide whether they will continue covering services you are already receiving (for services like outpatient counseling and granting more visits to a counselor).
- If you or a family member is denied coverage, ask for written documentation of both the reasons why they aren't covering the service and the criteria they used to make a decision. The insurer must give it to you.

Keep Records: Keep a log of all phone calls and written communication.
Appeal the Denial - More than 50% of appeals are successful.

MA Alliance for Sober Housing

The Massachusetts Alliance for Sober Housing (MASH) exists to ensure and promote critical management, operational, and ethical standards of sober homes, as well as to promote technical assistance to new and existing homes.

MASH's recovery values emphasize health, home, purpose, and community. Successful sober homes establish and reinforce healthy lifestyles, provide a safe and stable place to live, conduct meaningful activities, and build relationships and social networks for support. Through a network of certified sober housing and empirically based recovery principles, MASH's goal is to help create and foster these safe living environments for those with SUD.

What Is A Sober Home?

“Sober Home” is a broad term describing a sober, safe, and healthy living environment that promotes recovery from alcohol and other drugs. They are sober living environments, meaning that residents are expected to abstain from alcohol and illegal drug use. At a minimum, Sober Homes offer peer-to-peer recovery support. Some are not very structured and are more appropriate for those who have an established recovery program and simply desire to live in an alcohol/drug free environment with other sober people to help support their recovery efforts.

All Sober Homes are NOT alike!

Other Sober Homes have greater structure with more rules, perhaps a curfew, one or more weekly in-house meetings, encourage referrals to outpatient/use mental health providers in the local community, etc. Before considering a Sober Home, it is important to think about your needs. It is always a good idea to visit a Sober Home before committing to live there.

Recovery Rights Under the Americans with Disabilities Act

Were you denied a job because you take a legally prescribed medication?
Was a prescription medication taken from you or were you denied medical treatment by the correctional system?

You Have Rights!

People in recovery from substance use disorders are considered “people with disabilities” under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). The ADA is a comprehensive federal civil rights law that prohibits discrimination in all aspects of life based on disability. The New England ADA Center is here to help you learn about your rights. It is a free resource funded by US Health and Human Services to answer your questions anonymously and confidentially, explain your rights under the ADA, and point you to resources to help you overcome discrimination.

Criminal Offender Record Information (CORI)

CORI stands for Criminal Offender Record Information

- A criminal record, or CORI, is created for a person from the moment he or she is arrested by the police, to the time he or she is arraigned and processed through various criminal justice agencies.
- By law, various public and private agencies, social services agencies, employers, and housing providers have or can get access to a CORI.

CORI Sealing Information

- Obtain a copy of your criminal record.
- With a Massachusetts driver's license or a Massachusetts ID card, request your CORI online or mail a notarized CORI request form to the Department of Criminal Justice Information Services (DCJIS) with a money order for $25. If you are a person of low-income, the fee can be waived if you send in an Affidavit of Indigency.
- Visit <https://www.gbls.org/self-help/cori> for forms.
- A criminal record can usually be sealed for a misdemeanor after 3 years and for a felony after a 7-year waiting period.

Have a CORI? Create a CORI Support Package!

Gather recent letters from social workers, employers, probation officers, parole officers, landlords and clergy attesting to your good character as evidence of using support for a new life as you look for jobs and housing.

Letters need to explain:

- Most serious convictions on the criminal record
- Recent activity demonstrating a commitment to positive change
- Strengths and skills of the ex-offender
- Why the record should not stand in the way

Quick medical help can save a life when someone has an overdose. But some people worry about getting arrested or charged with drug possession. The Good Samaritan Law in Massachusetts protects a person having an overdose and the people who help.

This law provides protection from arrest and prosecution for drug possession by encouraging someone who sees a friend or stranger overdose to seek emergency medical help. The goal is to save lives and protect people, so call 911 right away.

For more information about the Massachusetts Good Samaritan Law, go to: www.mass.gov/maketherightcall

Good Samaritan Law: Quick Facts

- 911 Good Samaritan Law does not interfere with law enforcement efforts to assess the scene of an overdose for public safety.
- Studies show over 50% of people interviewed reported they did not call 911 during an overdose due to their fear of police involvement.
- More deaths occur in private settings, where people are less likely to call 911 due to fear of police involvement. Bystanders are more likely to call for help in overdoses that occur in public settings than in private settings, such as homes or hotels.
- In 2008, community assessments were done in Brockton, Cambridge, Charlestown, Fall River, Gloucester, Jamaica Plain/Roxbury, Lowell, Lynn, New Bedford, Revere, Springfield, and Worcester. Fear of police involvement was the major reason given for not calling 911, a leading contributing cause of fatal overdoses in Massachusetts.
- As part of a DPH overdose prevention project, between November 2007 and November 2015, at least 38,000 persons were trained to prevent, recognize, and respond to an opioid overdose and administer naloxone (Narcan®). Within that time frame, DPH documented reversal of over 5,800 potentially fatal overdoses.
- In 2008, the US Conference of Mayors unanimously urged all state governments to adopt emergency “Good Samaritan” laws.
- Massachusetts is one of 45 states and the District of Columbia that now have a Good Samaritan Law. Except Kansas, Maine, Oklahoma, Texas, and Wyoming, every state in the United States has a drug overdose Good Samaritan Law in place.

Recovery Month

September is Recovery Month

National Recovery Month (Recovery Month), which started in 1989, is a national observance held every September to promote and support new evidence-based treatment and recovery practices, the nation's strong and proud recovery community, and the dedication of service providers and communities who make recovery in all its forms possible.

SAMHSA aims to increase public awareness surrounding mental health and addiction recovery. In the years since Recovery Month launched, SAMHSA has timed announcements of initiatives and grant funding during Recovery Month, while collaborating with private and public entities to celebrate individuals during their long-term recoveries.

Recovery Month celebrates the gains made by those in recovery, just as we celebrate health improvements made by those who are managing other health conditions such as hypertension, diabetes, asthma, and heart disease. This observance reinforces the positive message that behavioral health is essential to overall health, prevention works, treatment is effective, and people can and do recover.
